OAS BUNGLES ATTEMPT TO KILL DE GAULLE

3 Communist Cars Halted At E. Berlin Gate

Elimination of Red Post Is Studied By Allied Leaders

BERLIN (AP) — Three Soviet armored vehicles taking guard replacements to the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin were detained by the U.S. at Checkpoint Charlie more than an hour today.

At 2:45 p.m. the armored personnel carriers the Russians have used for guard movement since Tuesday were still at the checkpoint.

Witnesses reported three American military vehicles were blocking the Russians' way into West Berlin.

During the night, U.S. Army cars made unopposed excursions into East Berlin to test whether Moscow's abolition of the Soviet commandant's office would be followed by efforts to limit Western movements in the Communist part of this divided city.

Although East German guards made no attempt to interfere with the American vehicles, U.S. authorities said it was still too early to conclude that harassing measures were not in the offing.

One U.S. Army vehicle crossed from West Berlin into the Communist sector just before midnight and returned without difficulty through Checkpoint Charlie, entry point through the Berlin Wall for military personnel.

Two more U.S. Army cars followed without meeting any delays. The Russians announced Wednesday they were doing away with the office of city commandant and transferring his duties "temporarily" to Gen. Ivan Yakubovsky, the Soviet commander for East Germany, who has headquarters at Potsdam, just west of Berlin.

Western officials viewed the action as a Communist effort to cut one more "slice of salami" from Western occupation rights in the campaign to force the allies out of the city. Communist propaganda organs were expected to argue that the Soviets no longer needed a military authority in Berlin and neither did the Allies.

The United States, Britain and France took the view that the sudden switch of command on the Soviet side did not affect Western rights or the Soviet responsibility.

JFK Tells Newsmen U.S. Will Lead In Space Race by '70

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the United States is pouring billions of dollars and a tremendous effort into overtaking Russia in space—"and I think by the end of the decade we will."

This was a sort of hopeful look at long-term prospects in response to a news conference question Wednesday about Russia's orbiting of twin cosmonauts.

It was tempered by mention of even dozen times that this country now is behind, second, or late or that the Soviets have a lead. Kennedy said: "Anybody who attempts to suggest that we are not behind misleads the American people."

Russia or Russians figured in one way or another in a wide range of conference topics.

For example:

Kennedy said "The Bloc"—he meant the Communist bloc—has put large quantities of supplies and an increased number of technicians into Cuba in recent weeks. He said there is no similar information about troops.

He said that if Soviet Premier Khrushchev comes to the United Nations this fall—and he doesn't know that Khrushchev will—"I would hope I would have a chance to talk with him" and any other heads of government who might come.

The President said that Russia's action in abolishing its commandant's office in Berlin certainly cannot by itself affect U.S. rights based on a four-power agreement with the Soviets, Britain and France.

Measure OK'd by 47-37 Margin

New Farm Program Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has swiftly passed a new farm bill with a dose of the tough controls President Kennedy requested to reduce surpluses of corn and feed grains.

The measure, approved Wednesday by a 47-37 vote, now must go to a conference committee where differences between the Senate and House versions will be ironed out.

Kennedy praised the Senate measure at his news conference Wednesday, saying it "gives us an opportunity to bring some sense and reason and control into an area which has been marked by excesses and chaos in recent years."

"The House in June scrapped the original administration bill with its stiff compulsory controls. In its place, the House passed a measure to continue for another year the present voluntary wheat and feed grain programs."

A GOP farm spokesman in the house sized up the new Senate measure and called it worse than the original.

It is an "absolutely impossible bill," said Rep. Charles B. Hoey of Iowa and he declared:

"It is a direct and deliberate attempt to force our corn and feed grain farmers under a system of complete regimentation and control with the secretary of culture as czar."

The Senate wrote into the measure a provision that could sharply reduce or wipe out price supports starting with the 1964 crop.

Registration Scheduled at City Schools

Registration for all new students in grades seven through 12, who have not previously registered, will be held Tuesday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the principals' offices at the junior and senior high schools, according to Paul E. Smith, superintendent of schools.

Students in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades are to report to the junior high school, and 10th, 11th and 12th graders will report at the high school.

"Much more time and attention can be given each individual on this day than during the first day of school when so many things are going on. If students wait until the first day of school to register, it is difficult to make schedules immediately, and they will not be able to start their work on time," Smith said.

Pupils who have found that unusual circumstances necessitate a change in schedules are to report Tuesday at the same times.

New elementary school pupils are to register with their neighborhood elementary school principal Wednesday, Smith added.

Smith also said that all 10th and new 11th and 12th grade pupils will meet in the high school gymnasium at 1 p.m. Sept. 4 to be given directions for starting school and to be shown where their home rooms and class rooms are located. All seventh and new eighth and ninth graders will meet at the junior high building at the same time for similar orientation.

Smith said there will be a full day of classes on the opening day of school, Sept. 5, and also reminds parents of new students that immunization against small pox, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus are required before pupils can be enrolled.

American Flyer Released From Indonesia Jail

Had Been Sentenced To Death for Role In Rebel Air Raids

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Allan Lawrence Pope, a 33-year-old American flier, has been whisked secretly from an Indonesian prison where he was under death sentence to a "wonderful reunion" of six weeks with his wife and two sons in the United States.

Pope was reported in New York on personal business but he was not available to newsmen.

His wife, Yvonne, said Wednesday night at her parents' home in Akron her husband is in good health and "everything has turned out fine for us."

Until his secret release July 2 as part of a general political amnesty by the Indonesian government, the situation was far from rosy for the former Air Force pilot who had won the Distinguished Flying Cross for bravery in Korea.

In April 1960, an Indonesian military court found him guilty of killing 17 members of the Indonesian armed forces in bombing and strafing missions. He was accused of carrying arms and ammunition for rebel forces during an unsuccessful 1958 uprising.

Pope said at his court-martial he had flown one attack mission for the rebels in his World War II-type B26 bomber, but claimed he didn't kill anyone. He denied charges he was to blame for most of the rebel air raids on ships, ports and airfields in eastern Indonesia or that he received $10,000 a mission from the rebels.

The American flier said he joined the rebels without pay. He wanted to fight communism, Pope asserted, and was told the Communists controlled the government of President Sukarno.

Pope was sentenced to death April 29, 1960. His petition for clemency was denied and all prior appeals for his release were fruitless.

The State Department disclosed news of Pope's release Wednesday night and said he has asked the amnesty and his return to the United States be kept secret. He wanted to rejoin his family and rest and relax without fanfare.

"It's been a wonderful experience being reunited with my husband for the past six weeks," Mrs. Pope said. "The boys, Stephen, 6, and Lawrence, 5, hadn't seen their father for four years. I met him when he flew back to this country and we've spent the time since at a hideaway at a friend's place."

Mrs. Pope said they probably will return to their former home in Homestead, Fla.

Pope flew for the French in the Indochina war in an airlift attempt to break the Communist siege of Dien Bien Phu, and for Civil Air Transport of Nationalist China, the line founded by the late U.S. Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

Capacity Crowd To Hear Briley

A capacity crowd is expected when John Marshall Briley of Toledo, Republican candidate for the United States senate from Ohio, speaks at a breakfast meeting in the Memorial Building Friday at 8:30 a.m.

Briley, a lawyer, became vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. at Toledo in 1952 and four years later was named general counsel for the firm.

He has served as chairman of the Ohio Republican finance committee and a member of the Lucas County Republican finance and executive committees. He was an alternate delegate at large to the 1960 Republican convention.

Senate To Act On Drug Bill

Swift Passage Seen On Safeguards Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate moved today toward prompt passage of a drug bill given a new push by President Kennedy.

The bill, designed to strengthen safeguards against the sale of dangerous or ineffective drugs, was listed by Kennedy Wednesday as one of "five particularly important measures" on which Congress will be acting shortly.

Others he referred to at his news conference were the farm bill, a constitutional amendment to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections, the trade expansion bill and the U.N. bond issue bill.

Shortly after the drug bill was called up in the Senate late Wednesday, quick agreement was reached on a limitation of debate that should bring a final vote before the end of today's session.

The bill, as first approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee last month, fell short of what Kennedy asked. Since then, in the wake of the furor over the sedative thalidomide, the committee has approved strengthening amendments.

The legislation was introduced more than a year ago by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the Senate Antitrust subcommittee, after a lengthy investigation of the prescription drug industry.

Stripped from the bill by the Judiciary Committee were anti-trust provisions Kefauver contends are necessary to substantially reduce what he calls exorbitant drug prices.

Kefauver failed to win administration backing for these provisions, but he has re-offered them in modified form.

His key amendment provides for compulsory licensing of prescription drug patents after three years when the price to the pharmacist represents a mark-up of 500 percent or more over the factory cost. Licensees would have to pay royalties of 8 percent on sales.

In the safety area, Kefauver has an amendment giving the government

LISBON — A Black Angus steer entered by James Steed of Homeworth RD 1 won the grand champion award in the steer judging contest at the Columbiana County Fair Wednesday.

The animal, weighing 945 pounds, was sold for $737.10 (78 cents

The price paid for the steer was the highest received at the fair in a number of years. Last year, the champion steer was sold for 55 cents a pound.

Another Black Angus steer, entered by Linda Ferguson of Wells-ville RD 2, won the reserve champion award and was sold to Hillier's IGA Store in Lisbon for $429.60. The reserve champion weighed 895 pounds.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steed, and Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ferguson. Both James and Linda have been members of the 4-H Steer Club for a number of years.

Gunmen Miss French Chief by Just Two Inches

President Unshaken But Admits He Did Have 'Close Shave'

PARIS (AP) — Police today sought a band of Secret Army Organization killers whose bullets missed President Charles de Gaulle by only inches in an ambush on the outskirts of Paris.

An investigation indicated that Wednesday night's assassination attempt was the second planned this month on the 71-year-old French leader. The other failed to come off.

De Gaulle, unruffled but admitting he had "a close shave," rested with his wife at their guarded country home at Colombey les Deux Eglises.

The police search centered on a dark-haired man, about 30, who rented one of the ambush cars from a suburban garage three days ago. The light panel truck was found booby-trapped and abandoned a few hours after the assassins fired at the motorcade taking De Gaulle to a military airport.

The garage owner, who supplied the clue, said the same dark-haired man rented the same truck for five days on Aug. 4. Police noted that period coincided with De Gaulle's trip to Paris from his country home. He gave a luncheon Aug. 8 at Elysee Palace for visiting Dwight D. Eisenhower.

De Gaulle had come to the capital Wednesday for a Cabinet meeting to draft stronger measures to stem a wave of terrorism blamed on right-wing extremists from Algeria.

De Gaulle's car was hit by at least 10 bullets in a heavy cross-fire as it sped along a road to the Villacoublay airport.

One of the bullets missed him by only two inches. Others broke the rear window and pierced side windows. The president was showered with glass but unhurt.

The gunmen—believed numbering at least 10—fired about 150 bullets at the motorcade and hit some of the other cars.

No one in De Gaulle's party was hurt. A passing motorist was wounded in the hand.

Interior Minister Roger Frey said puncture-proof tires on the president's car and on the police car which followed him were a saving factor. Bullets hit the tires but the cars were able to speed on.

De Gaulle, disdainful of his own safety, always travels in an ordinary French car, but security officials said an attempt will be made now to get him to use a car with bullet-proof glass.

Incendary grenades were found near the scene of the attack.

De Gaulle was still covered with

Ralph Edwards' Corporation Produces Dramatic Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of the semi-secrets of this busy entertainment factory, in which almost every worker has a corporation of his very own, is the fact that "Wide Country," NBC's new action series, is a Ralph Edwards production.

Edwards' shows, including the long-running "This is Your Life," are highly regarded in the industry. But after long years of Edwards' tugging at the nation's heartstrings with surprise confrontations between famous personalities and their long-lost first-grade teachers and presiding over tear-drenched family reunions, NBC apparently doesn't want to confuse the images. "Wide Country" is, all concerned fondly hope, a dramatic program, not a real-life tear jerker.

Edwards became the unlikely producer of the series about a rodeo rider as a result of a corpor-

All-Star Cast To Be Present At Ohio Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Red Skelton, Grand Ole Opry, auto thrill shows, "Bonanza" TV stars and rodeo action blend with a display of Ohio's agricultural, industrial and scientific prowess in the 107th state fair opening Friday.

The fair, set for its longest run ever—11 days including a Labor Day windup—will have what are billed as the world's biggest sheep show, the world's largest junior fair and harness racing with the biggest purses yet offered at the Ohio exposition.

Comedian Skelton will be the featured grandstand entertainer the first four days. Then come the Grand Ole Opry jubilee and auto thrill show, and during the Labor Day weekend, Lorne Greene and Dan Blocker, stars of the "Bonanza" series, will appear at each performance of the Tom Steiner Rodeo.

More than 200 displays will be presented by Ohio industries. On Aug. 31, every major manufacturer of farm equipment will take part in a parade of farm machinery. That same day will be John Glenn Jr. Day, with an appearance by the Ohio-born astronaut on tap.

Farm exhibits will occupy 44 acres of the partially remodeled fairgrounds—now called the Ohio Expositions Center, but still at the old stand. That's between 11th and 17th avenues near Interstate 71, northeast of downtown Columbus.

Canton Plant, Steel Workers Continue Talk

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. and the United Steelworkers of America continued negotiations today in an effort to reach agreement on a new contract.

A company spokesman said 40 issues still were unsolved Wednesday night.

Some 9,000 employees at plants in Canton, Columbus and Wooster are covered by the contract which expires at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

An employee savings plan is the chief issue, according to John S. Johns, director of United Steelworkers District 27. The union wants a company-paid vacation and savings plan similar to that granted by the big steel companies.

Timken has offered a security savings plan under which the workers would deposit up to 6 per cent of their earnings in a local savings and loan association with the company guaranteeing a 50-cent gain on every dollar saved.

Wins 3 Times, United Local To Keep Dr. Dunlap Trophy

United Local School will keep permanent possession of the trophy for the Robert Dunlap health essay contest of the Columbiana County Board of Health as the result of Miss Betty Miller winning first place Tuesday at the County fair.

Miss Miller, 14, of RD 2, Salem, a United School student, received $25 for first place.

Judge Kingsley A. Taft, nominee for chief justice of Ohio Supreme Court, presented the awards. Peter Marra, principal of United Local, accepted the trophy on behalf of the school.

Miss Miller's winning essay follows:

"Many people take public health for granted. We turn a tap in the kitchen, and pure water flows out of a faucet. We pour dish water into the sink, and it gurgles out of sight and usually out of mind.

"We also take for granted a small army of doctors and nurses working together so that we, the people, may benefit from their help until we desperately need their services. Even then few of us take time to wonder, 'Who did all of this for me?'

"Public health has been defined as 'the art and science of preventing disease, prolonging life, and promoting physical and mental efficiency through organized community effort.' The health department is the basic service unit in the administration of public health.

"The establishment of the first county health department occurred in 1911 when an epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in Yakima County, Washington. Dr. L. L. Lumsden was put in charge to study the epidemic. He suggested to the county authorities that to prevent such a disaster from occurring again, they should establish a county health department which is supported by county funds with a full-time physician in charge. And thus the first county health unit in the United States was established.

"The tasks of the health department and the people who work together to accomplish them are many. To describe all of them in full would be an endless job.

'King and I' Music Banned In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australia's government-controlled radio network has banned the music from "The King and I" during the 18-day Australian tour of the king and queen of Thailand.

"We do not want to risk doing anything that might offend the royal Thai couple," a commission official said.

"The King and I," originally a Broadway musical, is a fictionalized version of the relationship between Thai King Mongkut and Mrs. Anna Leonowens, an English school teacher. The music and movie of the show are banned in Thailand.

It's Only the People's Money

When Sen. Symington gets out of the hospital and makes his peace with disgruntled members of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee investigating stockpiling, some questions still unasked could stand answering.

George M. Humphrey, secretary of the treasury in the Eisenhower administration, is able to take care of himself before the subcommittee. He is anxious to tell his side of the story if Sen. Symington will let him.

Sen. Symington and his associates who would like to trip up Mr. Humphreys so they could call him a profiteer can be counted on to ring all the changes on their version of the story, too.

All the politicians and all the king's men, though, can't be counted on to tell the people's side of this story and hundreds like it.

It is the story of government that runs wild with public money on projects that would be unthinkable if they did not originate in the rich, lush mentalities of public spenders.

Mr. Humphrey had testified before Sen. Symington lost his poise and terminated the testimony that he and his company urged the Department of Defense to go slow. They were rebuked.

The spend-happy government put on the pressure; cost was no objection. Then years later the fantastic statistics of profligacy can be paraded before the public by sensation-mongers, to make it look as if private interests had been practicing hanky-panky.

This is what Sen. Symington's subcommittee should be looking into—the doctrine that there are no limits on government spending—that nothing is too expensive for the government—that the people's money is up for grabs and no holds barred.

Came the Dawn of a New Era

We read repeatedly in history of new eras that dawned and in our imaginations there seem to have been dates when people did actually say, "This is the dawn of a new era."

But only in our imaginations. In actuality, new eras dawn with little or no recognition. That was the way the Age of Aviation dawned; scarcely anyone knew about it.

The Atomic Age, on the other hand, dawned with the loudest noise ever devised by man. But that was only the explosive part of the Atomic Age—the part all of us hope will be least important.

The potentially most important part will release energy for the benefit of humanity—not just in one nation but all nations. This part began to take form with the development of nuclear submarines as carriers for Polaris missiles.

Now it has been applied to something vastly more important—development of nuclear-powered ships that can operate for years without refueling. This could be the dawn of an era in which mastery of the oceans finally could be asserted by mankind.

From hollowed-out logs propelled by crude paddles to great ships propelled by energy released from a few hundred pounds of fissionable material marks the entire span of human endeavor to conquer ocean distances. The nuclear ship Savannah's maiden voyage is at least as important and certainly far better publicized than the maiden voyage of the Clermont.

What era did it mark the dawn of? The era in which commercial steamships, following a design of Robert Fulton, closed the preceding era of sailing vessels. No one knew why it was important until years later. It happened in 1807.

Do Not Wait for It

It would be confusion piled on confusion if the railroad industry inadvertently led the public to believe it wants to get rid of featherbedding so it can cut the cost of its service to the public.

In recent years the result of developing more efficiency, which is the other way to describe why railroads want to eliminate featherbedding, rarely has been lower cost to the public.

The automobile industry, for example, has worked tirelessly to develop more efficiency and with considerable success according to statistics showing the relationship between units produced and employees required to produce them. But the only reduction in price finally came about when the auto industry built smaller cars to compete with imported compacts, following the example of the one U.S. company that had been competing with them on these terms.

If anyone grew curious enough to wonder what happened to the idea that mass production made it possible for more consumers to buy more goods at ever-lower prices, he was ruled out of order. It was explained that efficiency merely made it possible to keep prices from being pushed out of reach by ever-increasing costs of production.

It's an old story. The railroads now are pointing out that the shipping and traveling public pays unionized rail workers about $600 million a year for work not needed or not performed; i.e., featherbedding.

The implication is that if featherbedding were eliminated the shipping and traveling public would be $600 million ahead. But don't wait for lower rates if featherbedding goes. That's not the way it's done. For the railroads, $600 million merely would make a dent in the deficit.

Keep your figures girls, if you want the boys to call your numbers.

It's funny how often we're afraid a barber is going to make our hair look like his.

Gossips get all wound up and then do a lot of running down.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Now the Communist apparatus has gotten down to cattle-rustling in the cold war. Perhaps it would be better to report this as buffalo rustling up in the roadless northeast territory of isolated villages. So inaccessible are some of these Thai communities that their people have never seen a non-Thai or a movie.

Over a year ago, however, reports began to seep down from that sector, which borders on Communist-held territory, that farmers' buffaloes were being rustled.

Since these animals are used to till the soil, as once we used oxen and mules and also are eaten, the thefts were mighty serious. Thailand security forces dispatched special police to investigate. Soon they discovered that small Communist Pather Lao cadres were infiltrating from Laos across the river and some were being landed by helicopter. The Communist units then set up their "Operation Buffalo Rustling."

At night they would slip into the villages and drive off the water buffalo. This they did for several weeks, hitting village after village.

Then they moved into the open. They walked into the villages. They said they had heard that thieves were making off with the mighty precious buffalo, as vital to the farmers as horses in our old West.

The Communist cadres' language and dress are exactly like those of the Thai farmers, who really cannot be distinguished from Laotians across the Mekong River, the border between this country and Laos in that sector.

The Communist agents then told the angry farmers that they could halt the rustling. The farmers merely would have to join a new protection organization—operating as a civic front, since the cadres, of course, did not identify themselves as Communists.

SOME FARMERS joined. Soon they got their buffalo back. Then, by night, the cadres would steal the cattle non-joiners.

By day the party operatives would return as good Samaritans offering their services. And those services were accepted.

After all, did not those farmers who joined the protective group get their cattle back?

Then the camouflaged Communist cadres suggested that the farmers send their sons over the line to be trained by "friends" to fight off the cattle thieves. The young men went.

Once over the line in Laos, the sons not only were trained by the Communist military apparatus known as the Pathet Lao, but were brainwashed as well.

Soon the Thai security police traced the Communist cadres. The police found the infiltration routes and discovered the charred remains of a helicopter which had cracked up while landing.

The Communist agents had put fire to their infiltration craft. But the flames did not eradicate the markings which proved the craft was produced in the USSR.

Then came the police crackdown. They rounded up more than a hundred agents and Thais who had been converted. During the police raids the security force picked up a real prize.

IN THE HOME of a village headman, the police discovered the first actual document of infiltration prepared by the Communists. It was called "A Paper on Working Among the Masses."

Until the capture of this document, the Thai security people knew only that the Communists promised the farmers tractors if they joined, or money, medicine and blankets. But now there was evidence of the superb planning by the cadres not only for infiltration in the northeast sector, but for movements down into the big cities.

There was a long action program outlined. One point called for the creation of "Gray" and "Orange" organizations.

Nothing was left to haphazard chance. The "Gray" plan called for setting up organizations ranging from cremation societies to shopping cooperatives. The most intriguing maneuver, was the directive to become active in new cremation societies.

The Buddhists cremate their dead. But first they are placed in expensive teakwood coffins. These are taken to the temples for many days of devout prayer.

The deceased is then moved from the costly teakwood, which has been rented, and placed in an enclosure of plain wood.

TO THE POOR this heartfelt ceremony is mighty expensive. So there are cooperative societies for mutual help among the survivors. Even these the Communists decided to use as front organizations.

Then there was the "Orange" operation. This called for infiltration of the ranks of the Buddhist monks. They are self-sacrificing young men who go out each morning to pray aloud in the villages and on the streets of the big cities, too, as the men go out to work.

The Buddhist monks carry bowls into which the people put food for their sustenance. The monks wear long orange robes. "Operation Orange" was the effort to place Communist cadres amongst the monks because of the devotion and respect the people have for the Buddhist priests.

The Thai police smashed the "Gray" and the "Orange" maneuvers. But the Communists keep coming up with new tactics to infiltrate and soften our friends and allies.

The Communists never overlook any opening, any chance for infiltration, any opportunity to get closer to the people.

They never rest. Somehow we'll have to match them—everywhere across the globe. Twelve thousand miles may seem a long way. It isn't. It's closer than you think.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My family and I are involved in a friendly argument. We agreed to let you settle it. I claim on Army records and such where it says "nearest of kin" the wife should be listed, if he is married.

My husband says a wife is not nearest of kin. According to him, it is a man's mother. To support his argument he claims a man is no kin to his wife at all, except through marriage.

We are waiting for your answer to settle it.—LITTLE ROCK.

Dea Rock: Let the Bible settle it. According to the Scriptures, a man and his wife shall be "as one." You can't get any closer than that, can you? So—nearest of kin, for a married man, is his wife.

Maligned Policemen

Dear Ann: You recently sympathized with physicians who are nabbed in church or at parties by people who want free medical advice. Now will you give the same break to the poor maligned police officer?

Whenever my husband and I stop at the local pub for a relaxing drink, even though he is in civilian clothes the word gets around that he is John Law and then the complaints begin.

They usually start like this: "Some lousy 'copper' gave me a ticket last week for no reason at all. He said I was going 55 in a 40-mile zone, etc., etc."

Yesterday some half-loaded stranger sat down at our table and said, "I'd like to ask you a question. How come the bulls never see the Cadillacs parked in the bus stops or near fire hydrants? They always nail some poor goof who is driving a '52 Chevie."

It's a good thing my husband is a man of restraint or some of these people would wind up with a healthy paste in the mouth.

This is not just our problem, Ann, but the problem of every man on the force. A word from you could do a lot of good. Please print this letter.—JOHN LAW'S WIFE.

Dear Mrs. Law: Here's your letter and I hope it helps, but don't expect miracles. The public is inclined to forget that law enforcement officers are individuals. They tend to transfer gripes against one to another without rhyme or reason. More than in any other line of work, the first-rate police officer must carry the burden for his not so first-rate colleagues. Let's be grateful that the vast majority of officers are honest, hard-working citizens.

Regrets Haste

Dear Ann: I met a very nice fellow in the home of a friend. He was in uniform and just about to be shipped overseas.

We had four dates and hit it off well together. He asked if I'd write to him and I agreed. He made it plain he didn't want to get serious and I said neither did I. (I am 19. He is 21.)

For the first couple of months I heard from him every two weeks. Then the letters began to come more often. I tried to keep my letters casual, even though his were becoming fairly mushy. Then he sent me a pair of green satin lounging pajamas with a note saying, "I'd love to see you in these."

His next letter said I was the kind of a girl he'd like to marry "in a few years."

I decided to send all his letters back and ask him not to write any more.

Three weeks have passed and now I am sorry I was so hasty. I want to hear from him again. What shall I do—REGRETTING.

Dear Regretting: Distance and separation sometimes intensify feelings. In my opinion, you were much too tough on the fellow.

Now write and apologize for acting in haste. Say you'd like to resume the correspondence but you wish he'd skip the love and marriage talk at least until you become better acquainted.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The SALEM News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Federal Ownership

By DAVID LAWRENCE

People's Capitalism System Threatened

Shall the government own everything regulate everything—including prices and wages—and control the whole national economy? For the answer to many decades such a question would have been an emphatic negative but today the Democratic party has a substantial number of David Lawrence members in Congress who openly favor government ownership as a public policy.

The recent filibuster on the bill covering ownership of the space-satellite communications system—known as "Telstar"—revealed several Democratic senators of the so-called "liberal" group as favoring government ownership despite the opposition of the administration.

Also some Democratic members of the Senate Antitrust Committee now are demanding that the steel companies disclose data on their internal operations which means that all competitors would see this information.

Apparently the drive is on to increase government control over the making of prices. This is a short step away from wage-setting.

Proposed mergers moreover of railroads and consolidations of airlines are before governmental bodies today for approval or disapproval.

The prospect is that many workers will lose their jobs because of such mergers though the companies predict that the gain in efficiency will result in improved service and eventually in more jobs.

The labor union leaders would be the last to admit it but they must assume some responsibility for the plight of those transportation companies which are not able to get high enough rates to absorb increased wage costs and to meet the expense of featherbedding—payment for work not being done. This constitutes a form of subsidy devised by labor unions to benefit their own members.

COMPANIES nowadays have to decide whether to seek an alternative or to try to get along with fewer employees and be content with a smaller volume of specialized products sold at a relatively high price to those who must have such goods or matter what the cost. The alternative policy is usually to endeavor to get a larger sales volume at lower prices.

This is theoretically a sound approach but it depends on the use of automatic equipment and on the development of greater efficiency.

This is something to which labor union policy customarily refuses to give cooperation.

Also to build and modernize plants requires more capital. Investors don't like to lend or invest money in enterprises that are in trouble. So it's a vicious circle. Unless there are satisfactory earnings the funds cannot be obtained to build better plants to promote greater efficiency and to increase earnings. Yet unless labor costs and work rules can be held in line employers will soon find their earnings steadily diminished.

Economic principles therefore are coming into conflict more and more today with the pressures of groups which uncompromisingly demand the maximum and do not think of the future of the whole economic system.

Then there is the factor of government competition with industry as manifested by the government invasion of the power industry through the construction of dams and the subsidizing of publicly owned power plants instead of leasing these facilities to private companies that could competitively bid on them.

THE WHOLE SYSTEM of free enterprise is one of risk capital and hazards but it nevertheless has managed to build America into the most powerful economic factor in the world today.

What is the reason for the emergence of a new faction in Congress which boldly champions government ownership?

Do the people really understand the fundamental issues?

Experience in other lands has shown that when initiative is stifled competition—with its emphasis on skills and inventive genius—is abandoned and there develops a lazy reliance on the government to do everything.

The result is inefficiency and poor service rendered to the people.

For example not a single private telephone or telegraph system exists in the larger countries of the world except the United States. They are all government owned. America not only has the largest system of private communication anywhere but one that far exceeds any governmental system in service and convenience. To this fact anyone with experience here and abroad can testify.

YET IN CONGRESS a fatal blow is being aimed at the whole doctrine of people's capitalism which describes the system prevalent in America today—where the people still have a right to own private companies and share in their earnings even as the population as a whole shares in the benefits that science and research bring.

The United States now is going through a critical period in its economic history. Will government ownership come to America as it has in Communist Russia and in other countries?

Or will America retain its system of people's capitalism?

This is the issue that seems certain to come before the American people in the national elections in the next few years.

As more and more people use airplanes, new forms of luggage are being manufactured and others are even being invented by the passengers themselves. To the 10th Power

By Truman Twill

In one of the tender tributes to Amos Alonzo Stagg on his 100th birthday, it was pointed out that there was a man who lived a century without swearing.

When it is considered he made his name famous as a football coach, an occupation bristling with provocations for getting hot under the collar, this is something to think about.

When Coach Stagg wanted to show his displeasure about an individual, he called him a "dumbbell" or a "jackass." If steam was blowing out of his ears, he would lay it on thick and call the culprit a "quadruple jackass."

That was his equivalent of our "double darn." It may be assumed there also were double and triple jackasses, perhaps even quintuple and sextuple jackasses. This system sounds attractive, because the truth is that those of us using the more common system have a problem.

We use up our entire arsenal of profanity on the smallest pretext, then have nothing left to say when something of major proportions gets under our skins. It's as though we had a shotgun rigged to fire when the door opened and it fired as big a blast for an intruding cat as for a burglar.

This is not a problem peculiar to men. As women have settled into the workaday world, men have discovered that many women are as hair-triggered as the cussingest of the old-time airblistering mule-skinner. Ladies also stand in need of gradations of cussing.

Two separate scales of gradation are needed—one for cussing people, another for cussing things. The latter is more important.

Most of us fly into vocal rages about things oftener than people.

Using "dad-blasted" as the root word on the scale, an automobile that fails to start would be just that—"dad-blasted." If it also has a flat tire, it would be "double dad-blasted."

If the radiator leaked to boot, it would be "triple dad-blasted." And if the transmission went sour after the engine had started, the tire had been fixed and the radiator repaired, would be "quadruple dad-blasted."

This would be a way out of the dead-end that spontaneous cussing has created for us cussers. It would give us an ascending scale for howling wrath. If we ever raised "dad-blasted" to the 10th power, our loved ones and friends would call the wagon to have us sacked up and hauled away.

The way it is now, they wonder if they shouldn't call the wagon when we stub our toe, or a button falls off while we're dressing. On the slightest excuse we spill out all the bad words our mothers never taught us.

Habit being what it is, we do this so routinely the impact of our cussing is lost. It falleth as the gentle rain, instead of a bucket of hot rivets. "What's that?" inquires a stranger and those who know us reply, "Oh that's old Skinhead going through a warm-up. Nothing serious."

Aside from its other strong points, the Stagg system of cussing has this merit: It served the inventor well for a provocation-packed century.

Amo Stagg didn't live 100 years by being a quadruple-jackass, which is the way we feel when we pull the trigger on our entire cuss-word vocabulary on what turns out to have been provocation.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

'Functional' and Organic Terms

Many people are understandably confused about the common medical terms "functional" and "organic."

For example, a young mother of five children, having been told she has "functional heart disease," writes to inquire how that is possible when she as a normal electrocardiogram, normal heart sounds and normal blood pressure.

And a middle-aged man is indignant because his digestive complaints have been labeled "functional" after extensive investigations, including X-rays. From both letters, it is apparent that each writer interprets the word "functional" as "nervous" or "neurotic."

They may think the physician has implied that his patient is imagining or exaggerating the condition.

Actually, nothing could be further from the truth. To illustrate, take the case of a motor overheating because of a loose fan belt. Or one that is knocking or losing power because its timer is out of whack. In each case the motor may be organically sound but functionally sick; attested by the fact that a simple adjustment corrects its "illness" and permits it to resume activity at peak efficiency.

ALTHOUGH this example may be criticized as an oversimplification, it may dispel the confusion of the young mother and lessen the indignation of the middle-aged man with the "bellyache."

For, it is quite possible for an organically sound heart to beat too fast or too slow, or it may beat irregularly every so often without detectable warning signs at the time of examination.

And it is equally possible for the stomach and intestines to be sluggish or overactive. They may develop spasms every so often without showing detectable evidences of organic disease at the time of examination.

And while the "functional" disturbance may be increased by emotional stress, its presence

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, our drug called ODRINEX. You must lose ugly fat in 7 days or your money back. No strenuous exercise, laxatives, massage or taking of so-called reducing candies, crackers or cookies, or chewing gum. ODRINEX is a tiny tablet and easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you still enjoy your meals, still eat the foods you like, but you simply don't have the urge for extra portions because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food. Your weight must come down, because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Get rid of excess fat and live longer. ODRINEX costs $3.00 and is sold on this GUARANTEE. If not satisfied for any reason just return the package to your druggist and get your full money back. No questions asked. ODRINEX is sold with this guarantee by: Heddleston Rexall Drug Store, 489 E. State St. Mail orders filled.

does not necessarily indicate that the complainant is a "neurotic," a "hypochondriac" or a "malingerer." If the functional disturbance persists although there is no evidence of organic disease and despite efforts to "tighten the fan belt" or "adjust the timer," re-examination is required. Underlying organic disease might have been overlooked at previous examinations.

And, just as the diagnosis of a functional disorder is no reflection on the patient's nervous or mental make-up, so the later detection of underlying organic disease does not necessarily mean there was carelessness or incompetence on the part of the examining physician who dealt with the disturbance in its earliest phases.

WIGS, WIGS, WIGS

If the ever-growing popularity of fashion wigs continues, soon we may all be sitting home and sending our "hair" to beauty salons for quick restyling. Demand for these "second heads" began in Paris with models who had to make split second changes of costume and emerge flawless. The idea was quickly picked up by celebrities of stage, TV and other public-life fields who must also be beautifully coiffured whenever on display. They are now available for every feminine personality.

Every feminine personality must spend ample time on beauty care. It requires professional know-how to do the thing right.

MRS. WINFRED MEINE of Munroe Falls, formerly of Salem, was honored Sunday with a stork shower at the home of Mrs. Alfred Meine of Chagrin Falls, with 20 in attendance.

Appointments were in pink and blue, with gifts placed under a large white stork. Centering the refreshment table, which was covered with an all-white embroidered linen cloth, was a large flat cake with a scene pictured in colored icings.

Mrs. Heinz Meine and Miss Agnes Madden, both of Salem, assisted the hostess with serving.

MRS. JAMES WRIGHT and daughter, Diane, entertained a group of former senior scout troop members and classmates of Miss Suzanne Perrault, bride-elect of William Davidson, at a kitchen shower for Miss Perrault Monday evening at their home Albany Road.

A pink and blue theme prevailed with a bridesmaid doll dressed in blue centering the refreshment table. Individual favors were tiny blue parasols.

Special guests were Mrs. George Perrault Jr. and Mrs. William Davidson Sr.

MRS. ELVIN KIRCHGESSNER of Depot Road will entertain members of the Birthday Club at a coverdish and cook-out Saturday.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: After years of messy hands from greasing cookie sheets and cake pans with a scrap of waxed paper or paper towel, I've discovered that a waxed paper sandwich bag ends all my troubles.

I just slip my hand into the waxed paper bag, with the seam side up! This forms a little "greasing glove" and keeps me from being left with shortening under my nails and on my hands.

Depending on the amount of greasing you do, the bag could be left in the can of shortening until the next time you bake.

I do wish that I had thought of this years ago. It saves wiping the grease off my hands before spooning out more cookie dough and the time saved sure adds up when making big batches of cookies.

Mrs. Robert Pinkerton.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who use percolators and find that some of the coffee grounds float on top of the coffee . . . did they know that if they remove the center shaft (the part that molds the grounds) and pour a little cold water in the hot coffee that the grounds will settle to the bottom? This sure beats the old remedies of adding egg shells and salt. A.D.P.

Two Cities' Experiments Can Expand

Sizable grants to "support the application from kindergarten through the 12th grade of the full range of constructive innovations in American education during the past 10 years" have been made to the public schools of Newton, Mass., and Norwalk, Conn., by the Ford Foundation.

"What has heretofore been educational experimentation on a limited scale — at particular schools or grade-levels—will become in Newton and Norwalk the predominant systemwide patterns," says Clarence H. Faust, a vice president of the Foundation.

Newton will use its $266,000 grant to expand its large-group instruction, advanced placement of able students, and cooperative projects for teacher education with the Harvard University Graduate School of Education.

These innovations were begun in Newton under grants from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, an independent organization established by the Ford Foundation.

Newton also will develop such practices as the interchange of teachers from grade to grade and school to school, team teaching, small-group instruction, individual study programs, flexible admission standards for kindergarten, expansion of offerings in the sciences, arts and foreign languages, and the formulation of continuing curricula from elementary through high school in such subjects as mathematics and social studies.

The $200,000 grant to the Norwalk public schools supplements an earlier grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education for the "Norwalk Plan"—a successful pioneer effort in the use of team teaching.

In 1958 the Norwalk Plan embraced 302 pupils and 12 teachers at two grade levels in four schools. During 1961-62, it included 2,500 pupils and 79 teachers in nine schools and all 12 grades.

Norwalk will expand its team teaching, plus such related practices as the use of nonprofessional assistants, flexible scheduling and variations in class size and type of instruction. Norwalk also plans to give greater responsibility to student-teacher internships and to expand the use of tape recorders, teaching machines and educational TV.

Homemade applesauce, flavored with lemon or orange rind, is utterly delicious served with vanilla ice cream.

15 Communist Ships Enroute To Cuban Port

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen Communist ships were reported en route to Cuba today.

They are in addition to 16 vessels said to have docked at Cuban ports late last month with an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 Communist bloc technicians plus large quantities of goods including weapons.

President Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday the U.S. government has information that Red "supplies and technicians of rather intensive quantity in recent weeks" have been landing on the Caribbean island.

Kennedy gave no figures, but said there is no information that Russian soldiers have come to Cuba or that the Communist aid is a buildup for an invasion of another country.

The President declined to assess the significance of the stepped-up assistance to the Communist-linked regime of Fidel Castro, saying "We are examining it now."

Other U.S. authorities indicated they do not yet know what the Reds are up to.

One speculation is that Moscow wants to strengthen the Communist hold on Cuba by sending in large numbers of "technicians" who will operate in key positions.

Another is that the Cuban economy is sagging so badly that the Communist bloc has decided massive aid is needed to revive its Western Hemisphere ally.

It is speculated also that the Communist help—while not of the kind for any large scale foreign attack—will augment efforts to export communism from Cuba to other Latin American countries through subversive means.

Trucker Is Cited After Accident

A Ft. Wayne, Ind., truck driver was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol for failing to stop within the assured clear distance after he drove his tractor-trailer rig into the rear of a car operated by an RD 5, Salem man on Alton Rd. 14, about three miles east of here, at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday. There were no injuries.

The Patrol arrested Thomas Baatz, 28, whose truck hit the rear of the car driven by Lester Saftred, 53. Both vehicles were traveling east, the Patrol reported, when Saftred slowed down for traffic in front of him and the trucker was unable to stop.

Wayne Gorbey, 36, of RD 1, East Palestine, escaped injury in an unusual one-car accident at 2:10 p.m. Wednesday on Rt. 154, about a half-mile west of Rogers. Gorbey was driving east when the "A" frame fell out of the car, causing the vehicle to run off the road and roll over.

glass when his car arrived at the airport three miles away. He appeared unperturbed and absolutely calm. She, the president and their son-in-law, Col. Alain de Boissieu, took off as planned for De Gaulle's country home at Colombey-Les-Deux Eglises.

Police blamed the ambush on the Secret Army Organization, the underground terrorist movement which fought Algerian independence and remains dedicated to toppling the government.

The Secret Army also was blamed for a near-miss attempt to kill De Gaulle with fire bombs as he drove to his country home last September and for a plot to assassinate him during a grass-roots provincial tour last June.

There are many Secret Army supporters among the hundreds of thousands of European refugees from Algeria. Secret Army leaders wanted by the French government, including former premier Georges Bidault, are believed to be directing activities from hideouts in Belgium, Austria and Switzerland.

dy put himself in the cheering section for a Senate subcommittee's investigation of profits on America's stockpiling of $8 billion in strategic materials.

The President said and repeated that extremely large profits were made by the Hanna Mining Company with very little risk to the firm, that he could understand the desire of some witnesses to limit the investigation by charging it is an attack on former President Eisenhower, but I think the Congress ought to do its job."

Kennedy spoke of former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey as a responsible official of the company. Humphrey has contended the inquiry is an attempt to slap at Eisenhower through himself.

Other cases are coming up, Kennedy said, and they involve large profits by a good many people.

The session with reporters got under way with news from Kennedy that the U.S. nuclear submarines Skate and Seadragon one from the Atlantic Fleet and one from the Pacific, had met under the Arctic ice cap and had surfaced together through a hole at the North Pole. Kennedy called it "an historic rendezvous," and "exceptional technical feat," and congratulated all involved.

From there he went into a bid for Congress to hurry along approval of a farm bill, one to tighten drug laws, a constitutional amendment to outlaw poll taxes as a voting requirement in federal elections, his foreign trade bill without restrictive amendments, and a $100 million loan to the United Nations.

This was the right season to bring up political questions. And Kennedy said he will be putting in some time campaigning in late September and October. He described as useful a "nonpolitical trip"—he said it with straight face—to the West Coast last weekend and said a similar trip to such urban centers as Chicago, Cleveland and Philadelphia, to deal with urban problems, is under consideration.

Two questions involved Negroes. The President said he definitely feels that more than 97 U.S. ambassadors should be Negroes. And he said that Senate action on the nomination of Negro leader Thurgood Marshall to a federal circuit court judgeship "has been much too much delayed." He added that he has assurances the Senate will approve it before Congress adjourns.

of corn, sorghum grains, barley and other livestock feed grains.

It would permit the secretary of agriculture to fix price supports on a sliding scale between zero and 90 per cent of parity next year, provided it would not increase government stocks of surpluses.

Another key provision—similar to one rejected earlier by the House — would establish production controls over wheat beginning with the 1964 crop if producers agree in a referendum next year.

Stiff production controls are provided, apart from acreage, but growers would receive higher supports on wheat produced for domestic uses and for export.

Contract Is Let For Tennis Courts

The Clinton Asphalt Paving Co. of Wilmington was formally awarded a contract today by the Salem Park Commission to construct three hard-surfaced tennis courts at Centennial Park at a total cost of $17,105.

The contract had been awarded tentatively by the board last Wednesday, pending an opinion from City Solicitor Thomas Coe as to whether the bid could be accepted since it was $31.70 over the city engineer's estimate. The solicitor ruled that the contract could be awarded without additional legislation.

The bid of the Wilmington firm was approximately $3,000 lower than the two other bids received.

for what goes on in East Berlin. President Kennedy told a news conference the Soviet Union could not affect rights of the four occupation powers by a one-sided decision.

The Soviet action, however, had the effect of severing connections between the Russians and the American, British and French commandants in B. rin. The Soviet commandant was the official to whom the Western commandants delivered protests against actions by the East German regime affecting West Berliners and Allied personnel in West Berlin, as well as protests against the shooting of East Germans trying to escape across the Berlin wall.

Western protests now must be made by Allied military commanders in West Germany to Yakubovsky, but the change presumably will have little actual effect. The Russian commandant in East Berlin invariably told his Allied counterparts to take their protests to the East German government, which the Allies refuse to recognize or do business with.

Relationship Between Ike, Kennedy Is Getting Abrasive

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — That pleasant relationship between President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower is getting increasingly abrasive.

No name-calling, no personal attacks, but blistering criticism of each other's administrations.

Several times in moments of deep concern since he took office Kennedy has sought out Eisenhower to talk with him. This was a switch for Eisenhower, whose relations with his predecessor, former President Truman, were frigid.

But twice within 10 days, Kennedy has traced two of this country's most vital troubles—the space race with Russia and the economy—back to Eisenhower as troubles he inherited.

Eisenhower's criticism of his successor in the White House has picked up steam over the past three months.

A month ago today he said the Kennedy administration "is floundering — thrashing aimlessly about" while doing things he said "have started the whole nation to question its ability to comprehend."

A month before he said he believes Kennedy is in the clutches of the "big spenders." He had acutely criticized the Kennedy farm program before and after the House killed it with all but one Republican voting against it.

In his television talk to the nation Aug. 13—after the Russians had shot their orbital twins into space—Kennedy admitted the United States was behind but had started late in the 1950s.

Eisenhower, whose administration spanned most of the 1950s, said Aug. 15 in London he does not agree with those who say the Russians have a space lead over the United States.

"I do not agree," he said, "that they (the Russians) have a space lead or that there is a gap. I'm a little tired of that word gap."

At his news conference Wednesday, Kennedy—saying "anybody who attempts to suggest we are not behind misleads the American people"—stressed:

"We are second to the Soviet Union in long-range boosters. I have said from the beginning we have started late . . . but I believe before the end of this decade is out, the United States will be ahead."

Earlier this month in the Saturday Evening Post Eisenhower said he doubted the wisdom of KERPLUNK — Gretchen Meierdiecks grimaces with delight as she swooshes down a slide into a pool of water at her New York City home. It's an easy way to beat the heat.

rating the Soviets to put a man on the moon and criticized the Kennedy administration for spending too much on the space race.

Kennedy, as if answering the spending complaint, said Wednesday:

"We are well behind but we are making a tremendous effort. We increased, after I took office, the budget for space by 50 per cent over that of my predecessor."

"The fact of the matter is that this year we submitted a space budget which was greater than the combined eight space budgets of the previous eight years. So this country is making a fast effort which is going to be much bigger next year, and the years to come, and represents a very heavy burden upon us all."

Last June 1 Eisenhower said he and other Republican leaders are "deeply concerned about the direction in which our economy seems to be going" under the Kennedy administration.

But in his Aug. 13 talk on the economy Kennedy said he inherited recession from Eisenhower when he took office Jan. 20, 1961 and that under him the country has had to recover from two Eisenhower recessions: in 1958 as well as 1961.

Labor Problems Plague JFK

Union Chiefs Press
For Jobs Increase

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy is finding labor just as hard to convert to his new guidelines for a booming economy as he found many leaders of big business and many top men in Congress.

A developing clash with labor could be one of the highlights of the struggle to get the economy moving faster—supposing the government can do it. And labor's sour view of the guidelines is sure to dominate much of next year's labor-management negotiations in many industries.

The labor-administration clash is over a shorter work week. The dispute of the administration with business is over the government's increasing role in collective bargaining and especially in monitoring price policies. The conflict with Congress in the economic field is over taxes and tariffs and spending, among others—all tied to economic growth, jobs and prices.

Labor has told the President it is tired of waiting for a seemingly sidetracked boost to economic growth to find jobs for the four million or more persons out of work, many for long periods.

The union leaders' idea is that a 35-hour instead of a 40-hour week either would furnish more jobs to get the same amount of production or would counteract some of the inroads of automation in factory and office employment.

The administration says it will stand firm on the 40-hour week as the norm. The President thinks that in some lines more work, rather than less, may be needed to get the economy moving fast enough to put all the nation's capacity in operation and all its labor force to work.

And a 35-hour week at the same pay as a 40-hour one would add to the pressure for higher prices. This administration opposes—as witness its sharp reaction when steel companies tried to raise their prices last April.

As a matter of fact many labor contracts already call for less than a 40-hour week at standard pay. Anything over that brings extra pay. The most cited example is the 25-hour week won this year by electrical workers in the New York construction industry. But other contracts across the nation call for less than a 40-hour week.

The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations is calling for a major drive to win more of these shorter week contracts as negotiations come up in the months ahead.

It also will ask Congress to cut the present statutory 40-hour week to 35 by amending the federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

Today is Thursday August 23 the 235th day of 1962. There are 130 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1630 the first labor legislation in America was passed. The Massachusetts Bay Colony whose governor was John Winthrop decreed that laborers be paid at the rate of one shilling a day.

On this date— In 1773 King George III of England proclaimed the existence of open rebellion in the American colonies.

In 1864 the International Red Cross was founded.

In 1914 Japan declared war on Germany.

In 1926 screen idol Rudolph Valentino died in New York.

In 1945 General Douglas Mac-

Arthur advised the Japanese of his plans for the ceremony at which they would sign unconditional surrender terms that were to formally end World War II.

Today's birthdays: Orchestra leader Bob Crosby is 49. Actor Gene Kelly is 50. Thought for today: Ready money is Aladdin's lamp —Lord Byron.

Higher Education Pattern Will Change

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

They have been born, they have been counted, and by the fall of 1963 the first of them will be hammering on college doors, demanding admission.

"They" are the post-war crop of babies which touched off this country's population explosion in 1945 and 1946. As inexorably as the sun and the tides they have progressed through kindergarten, grade school and high school, through double sessions and overcrowded classrooms.

Now, long before the colleges are ready for them, they are getting ready for college.

There has been so much talk about the "college crush" in recent years that the phrase has lost reality. It's like the cold war, the high cost of living, death on the highways—something to worry about, perhaps, but nothing you can really do anything about. There is indeed a college crush and it is going to get worse before it gets better. The college population is expected to double between 1960 and 1970—and that is a conservative estimate. The day is long gone when any but the brightest of the bright can pick and choose their colleges.

Not All Dark
But the situation has been grossly exaggerated.

Despite all the scare stories, the dark forebodings of college admissions officers and the complaints of parents, any reasonably qualified high school graduate can go to college this fall. The same will be true next fall, and the fall after that.

As the squeeze tightens, the choice of colleges available will become more and more limited. But no responsible American educator can foresee the day when a youngster will be unable to get into some college, somewhere.

The pattern of higher education, of course, is certain to change over the years.

There will be less emphasis on the select few "prestige" colleges. The lesser-known, small, private colleges will be taking up more of the burden. State universities will expand, and establish more branch campuses. The two-year junior college, or community college as it is sometimes called, will become even more important in the educational scheme of things.

Expansion of the JC
Where in 1930 there were 178 junior colleges in the United States, today there are nearly 700. Thirty-five new junior colleges were established in 1961 alone.

New York state has 16,000 junior college students, and expects to have 80,000 by 1972. Florida

Schools Face Shortage of Counselors

Guidance programs in the nation's schools are faced with a two-headed dilemma: finding counselors despite an ever-present shortage of trained personnel. Suffering from this supply-and-demand problem are thousands of youngsters whose work may slip behind because they lack individual help in getting at the root of their problems.

Where guidance programs in the past were confined mainly to high schools, principals today are requesting this help for elementary school children—if they only can find it.

Nationwide, there is a current shortage of 25,000 to 35,000 guidance counselors.

In some school systems, one guidance counselor handles the vocational, personal and academic problems of more than 1,200 students. He's lucky if he can see each student once a year. In other systems, the guidance counselor is handed chores that no one else has time for: arranging assembly programs, representing the school at state meetings, serving on social agency panels.

If no clerical help is available, the counselor is beside himself filling out college forms, recording grades in each student's folder, and giving tests which he probably has to score himself. But where school superintendents and boards of education have insisted on a full-fledged guidance program, the results have cutting down on dropouts, helping students find and get to appropriate colleges, and guiding students toward vocational goals.

Mother, Daughter Reunited After 25-Year Separation

GRASS LAKE, Mich. (AP) — "I'll never be alone again," the 77-year-old grandmother said as she clutched the hand of the daughter she had not seen in 25 years.

Mrs. Helena Gruebnaue, who passed through the Berlin Wall Tuesday, was reunited Wednesday with Mrs. Margaret Reuter—the daughter she left behind in 1937 when she went for a visit to her native Germany.

She stepped off a jetliner in Detroit, and left shortly afterward for Grass Lake, a suburb of Jackson, Mich., where she spent her first evening watching television. She will live with her daughter, her son-in-law Gilbert and their children. "Mother, God bless you," Mrs. Reuter sobbed as she kissed her mother.

"I have such nice grandchildren," Mrs. Gruebnaue said as she saw them for the first time. She has five—the oldest 24, the youngest 12.

Mrs. Gruebnaue, one of the few persons allowed by East Germany to cross the wall, made good on a promise made earlier in New York when she told newsmen she would recognize her daughter immediately. She picked her out of the crowd waiting.

The grandmother has forgotten how to speak English, but said through her bilingual lawyer she would learn again.

The lawyer, G. Vernon Leopold—himself a former German refugee—said he believed Mrs. Gruebnaue was the first person to apply successfully for reunion with her family under an East-West agreement since the building of the Berlin Wall.

Troubles at the wall had the family apprehensive that something would go wrong, Mrs. Reuter said. She couldn't rest easy until she got a telephone call from West Berlin, she said.

Her mother went back to visit relatives but "just stayed too long," Mrs. Reuter said. Husband Jacob Gruebnaue, who stayed behind, died in Mount Clemens, Mich., last year.

Hamlin Garland founded the Cliff Dwellers, a Chicago society of persons interested in the arts in 1907.

Recipes for Two

BEEF WITH SAUERKRAUT

One of the most famous versions of the many notable Austrian and Hungarian goulshes and paprikas is the one which includes sauerkraut and sour cream, both of which are used in this recipe.

YOU WILL NEED: frozen beef goulash with noodles; sauerkraut, red wine or hot water and pique seasoning, paprika, marjoram, garlic, sour cream or hogurt, caraway seeds.

To serve 2, heat 2 packages of Beef Goulash with noodles according to package directions. Meanwhile, in a cook 'n' serve dish, combine 1/2 pound sauerkraut with 1/4 cup red wine or 1/2 cup hot water and 1/2 teaspoon pique seasoning. Add 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 blade of marjoram or 1/4 teaspoon powdered dry marjoram and 1/2 small clove garlic crushed. Simmer until the sauerkraut is softened. About 15 minutes should do it. Place the goulash on top of the sauerkraut. Do not mix it all together. Cover and allow to steam for a few minutes.

Add 1/2 cup sour cream or plain yogurt, if you're dieting, and a sprinkle of caraway seeds, if desired.

Marinated Lobster Is Fine Eating

Marinated rock lobster tails in marinade of soy, ginger, tarragon and garlic for a few hours, then broiled indoors or on the outdoor grill, are really fine summertime eating, especially when served with a cucumber and lettuce salad.

BROILED MARINATED ROCK LOBSTER TAILS

6 (4-ounce) South African rock lobster tails, 1/2 cup chicken broth, Juice of 1/2 orange, juice of 1/2 lemon, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon tarragon, 1 clove garlic, crushed, Dash tabasco, 1/4 cup dry white wine (optional)

Rinse frozen rock lobster tails in warm water until slightly thawed. With sharp knife or kitchen shears, cut through hard shell and meat right through center. Do not clip underside membrane or tail fans. Grasp two halves of cut tail and bend backwards completely, to expose flesh. Arrange, flesh side up, in shallow pan or dish. Mix together all other ingredients. Spoon marinade sauce over raw tails and let stand for 1 to 2 hours, basting frequently with marinade. Preheat broiler. Place tails flesh side down and broil 5 minutes on shell side. Turn, baste with marinade sauce, and broil flesh side an additional 5 minutes. Serve immediately in shell.

Do You Recall Your Graduation Speech?

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — This probably-typical American community has provided what probably is typical reaction to the commencement address.

Less than six months after the 1961 high school commencement exercises, a survey was taken of a large cross-section of the graduating class. Two questions were asked:

What was the name of the speaker?

What did he say? None of those questioned could remember the speaker's name. Only one had a vague idea of what he had said. One girl recalled something about "how we would appreciate our parents later in life."

The man who spoke, Dr. Harold L. Yochum, president of Capital University in Columbus, wasn't the least surprised.

He said he could not recall the name of the gentleman who spoke at his high school commencement, nor anything that was said.

But the university president defended graduation speeches just the same. Having a commencement exercise without an address, he said, "would be like getting married by proxy."

Owens (left) and left halfback Dave Taus carry out faking maneuvers. The quintet has been picked as Morton's first unit backfield. Beery and Capel are captains of the squad along with center George Johnston. Salem opens its season here on Sept. 7 against Ashland.

Bailey May Get 'Rookie' Honor

Jets' Star Hitting .293, Has 23 HR's

By The Associated Press

Bobby Bailey, the $100,000-plus bonus baby of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is making a strong run for rookie of the year honors in the International League while trying to convince the Pirates he's ready for a spot in their infield.

The young shortstop boosted his average to .296, his home run total to 23, his runs scored to 94, and his runs-batted-in to 85 Wednesday night in leading the Columbus Jets to their seventh straight victory, 5-3 over Richmond.

Richmond right-hander George Haney allowed only two hits in seven innings, but the first was a three-run homer by Bailey in the first following two walks, and the second was a solo homer in the sixth by Larry Elliot.

After the Virginians cut the Jet lead to 4-3 on Joe Pepitone's homer, the Jets got an insurance run in the eighth—and Bailey set that one up, too. He singled, moved into scoring position, and scored on a single by Orlando McFarlane.

Left-hander Don Rowe pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory in the 1 hour, 37-minute game at Columbus, one of four played in the IL Wednesday night.

In the others, Atlanta turned back Jacksonville 6-3, Syracuse blanked Toronto 2-0 and Rochester beat Buffalo 4-2.

Houston No Longer In Running for NL Flag

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—To those who fearlessly predicted the Houston Colts wouldn't win the National League pennant this year fret no further. They won't.

The Colts winners of 45 games in 128 tries in their first year officially were eliminated from the pennant race Wednesday night losing to Pittsburgh 3-0 on Tom Sturdivant's three-hitter. Even with this fate Manager Harry Craft isn't complaining.

"We haven't even thought of being eliminated," Craft said. "It's farthest from our minds. We still have a tremendous lot of work to do the rest of the season."

The ninth-place Colts are the second team to drop from the official chase. The New York Mets accomplished it earlier this month.

"In one sense we're not disappointed," said Craft who became used to disappointment with the lowly Kansas City Athletics in the American League. "Before the season all of the polls had us finishing in 10th place.

"If we can't stay out of last with the spread between us and the Mets we better hang them up. I even think there's a chance that we'll finish eighth. We're only a game and a half from there now."

Veteran QB Recovered From Surgery

Blanda To Play When Oilers, Bills Vie Tonight

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers showing no signs of deterioration after winning their second straight American Football League title last year hope to haul out venerable George Blanda for a vigorous workout tonight when they play the Buffalo Bills in an exhibition game in Mobile Ala.

Blanda has spent most of the Oilers three exhibition victories recovering from a thyroid operation finally taking a brief spell at quarterback last Saturday night in a 20-10 victory over Boston and coming in to kick four field goals and three conversions the week before in a 33-17 victory over Denver.

In the meantime the 34-year-old 13-year pro veteran has watched second-year man Jack Lee direct the Oilers in fine style. In their first victory the Cincinnati grad threw three touchdown passes. He added another in the Denver game.

Lee's performance has given coach Frank (Pop) Ivy a good indication that the quarterback slot will be well-protected this year. It probably also has given Blanda's thyroid condition a much faster turn for the better for he was not expected to see much action until the regular season begins next month.

Wednesday night, the Boston Patriots handed the New York Titans their third straight pre-season loss—taking a 17-10 victory at Lowell, Mass. before a crowd of 11,118. New York also lost all-league fullback Bill Mathis with a broken collarbone.

Veteran Babe Parilli obtained from Oakland, completed 13 of 26 passes for 156 yards and one touchdown and went one yard on a sneak for the winning score in the fourth quarter. Halfback Ron Burton ran 10 times for 81 yards including a 39-yard burst that set up the winning touchdown.

When the Cleveland Browns opened summer football practice, seven members of former Ohio State teams turned out.

Melvin (Bones) LeBoyne, former jockey agent for Eddie Arcaro, is the assistant racing secretary at the 63-day summer meeting at the Longacres racetrack in Seattle.

When Bill Tucker and Jim Vre-nick of St. Louis bowled 1414 to take the 1958 ABC doubles title, Tucker rolled a 731 series.

High School Gridder Dies

Illinois Youth, 15, Succumbs To Heat

GILLESPIE III. (AP) — A Gillespie High School football player passed out in a locker room after a morning drill Wednesday and died about three hours later at St. Francis Hospital.

He was 15-year-old Andy Yurkovich 6-foot-11/2 and 244 pounds the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yurkovich of nearby Benld Ill.

Corner James Warden said an autopsy showed the cause of death to be heat stroke.

A teammate of Yurkovich Patrick Wesley 15 of Gillespie also complained of feeling ill in the locker room. He was in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

Coach August Dicenso said the players engaged in a light drill for about 75 minutes in football uniforms including pads. The coach said it was hot and he watched the players closely to avoid over-exertion.

2,000 Vie For Trapshoot Cash

100-Target Match Is Featured Today

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The big money handicap races opened today at the 63rd Grand American Trapshoot with more than 2,000 gunners going after the gold and glory.

Today's program was the 100-target preliminary handicap in which the victory could pick up several thousand dollars. It was a tuneup for tomorrow's No. 1 showpiece, the Grand American Handicap which carries the sport's most coveted crown.

But nothing could occur today to knock the luster off Wednesday's rousing finale in the North American clay target race, last of the 16-year events.

Novices and newcomers usually triumph in the handicaps here, but now an utterly known is on the 16-year throne.

He is Bernard Kalapach, a 35-year-old former schoolteacher from Highland, Ind., near Chicago, who has an average of 92 of 100. He visited the Grand for the fourth year, but for the first time entered the 16-year competition dominated by the nation's crack shots who seldom miss.

Against a field of 1,015, largest ever drawn by the event, Kalapach broke 200 straight to tie others for the top spot. Arrayed against him in the shootoff were Herb Bush of Canton, Ill., the 1957 champion; Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, Ohio, winner five times since 1935, and Lee S. Davidson of Paxton, Ind.

Kalapach calmly broke an extra 125 to take it all, including the title, $500 purse and an undetermined amount of option money. Hiestand missed once in the extra 125 to take second, Bush was third and Davidson fourth.

Other winners in the 16-year classic were:

Women—Mrs. Lewis R. Wolf, Philadelphia, 196, defeated Shirley Couch, South Gate, Calif., 25-23 in shootoff.

Veteran—Homer Clark Sr., Alton, Ill., 197.

Junior—Charles Keenan, South Sioux City, Neb., 199.

Subjunior — David R. Mott, Mich., 196, defeated Daryl Drennen, Granville, Ill., 100-99 in shoot-off.

Professional — Cliff Doughman, Alton, Ill., 200.

A local entry pulled the first safe blows off losing pitcher "Cheats" Rocchio.

The local club scored all of its runs in the second inning. Wayne Hahn started it off with a double, Bob Adams sacrificed, Dave Roller walked, Dick Boughton reached base on a fielder's choice and Brudery delivered a clutch single.

New Cumberland's only marker came on a home run off the bat of Nick Vallando in the sixth.

Brudery got in a jam in the seventh when "Chink" McCauley led off with a single, and after Vallando went out, Weldy Vulgare reached base on an infield error. Ehrhart was called in to pitch for Scott's at this point. He left the potential tying run stranded on second base by striking out Gene Murray and getting Rocchio down with only two hits. He also rapped out a pair of singles to account for half of Scott's four runs in the second inning. Wayne Hahn started it off with a double, Bob Adams sacrificed, Dave Roller walked, Dick Boughton reached base on a fielder's choice and Brudery delivered a clutch single.

Brudery fanned five and walked four in his six and one-third innings of pitching. Rocchio walked two and struck out two.

THE STRIKE OUT champion of the night was fireballer Al Prince of Warren North Side who set 15 New Brighton batters down on strikes, only to lose 1-0 when his team failed to get him any runs.

Prince pitched a three-hitter, but Warren collected only two bingles off winning hurler Ralph Voskoul who struck out eight and walked four.

The only run of the game was scored in the third inning. After one man was out, Jim Ashton drew a walk. Ashton was out when he was hit by Eddie Muldovan's sharp grounder while running to second. Muldovan, who received credit for a single, romped home on Don Kittener's triple.

TWO MORE SALEM teams are scheduled to make their debuts tonight in the 36-team double elimination tourney. Lincoln Machine goes against Niles Reese Floral at 6:30 and the Italian Club will tangle with Akron Jost Tire at 9 p.m. The other game tonight, billed for 7:45, will pit Warren Park Club against Akron Leeper Standard Tire.

The tournament field was swelled to 36 teams yesterday with the late entries of Youngstown Pal-kovic Insurance of the Penn-Ohio League, Midland Elks, Cuyahoga Falls McGowan Reid and another outfit from Niles.

The newly crowned state champion Akron Angies Pizza team will make its first appearance in the Salem tournament on Friday at 6:30 against Van Port, Pa.

Donovan Wins No. 16

Costly Error Enables Tribe To Whip Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—If at first you don't succeed try three more times and you'll make it.

Tat was Dick Donovan's formula in winning his 16th game this season for the Cleveland Indians. He had failed three times to gain that elusive 16th win but he made the grade with a 7-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday.

Donovan had three singles knocked in one run and scored the lead run in the eighth inning when Al Luplow cracked a 3-3 tie with a two-run triple. Donovan has lost seven games being tagged three times since posting his 15th triumph Aug. 3.

A costly error by Tiger second baseman Dick McAuliffe opened the gates for Cleveland sent Don Mossi (8-12) down to defeat.

With one out in the eighth Donovan singled off the right field wall. Willie Tasby grounded to second and it appeared Detroit would come up with an inning-ending double play. But McAuliffe couldn't handle the ball and both runners were safe. Luplow then ripped an 0-2 pitch into left center for a triple scoring the runs that put Cleveland ahead 5-3.

The Indians added two more runs in the ninth.

With the Tribe having clinched the season series with the Tigers 10-7 the teams close out their 1962 rivalry today with Hank Aguirre (11-5) facing the Indians' Jim (Mudcat) Grant (6-5).

Berra's Homer Gives Yanks 4-3 Win Over Angels

Minnesota Moves Into 2nd Place

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Yogi Berra a roly poly Satan has shoved his pitchfork right into the Angels' inflated halos.

The veteran catcher played a devil of a game for the New York Yankees Wednesday night driving in three runs and applying the crusher against the pennant-hopeful Los Angeles Angels with a two-run eighth inning homer that gave the American League leaders a 4-3 victory.

Berra drove in the first Yankee run with a single in the first inning. In the eighth with the world champions trailing by a run in the second game of the key three-game series the 37-year-old receiver tagged a two-run homer that knocked the Angel halos askew.

It was the second sudden-ending finish suffered by the Angels whose dreams were punctured Tuesday night when the Yankees struck for seven runs in the 10th inning and an 11-4 triumph.

The latest defeat dropped the Angels to third place six games behind the Yankees and a half-game back of Minnesota. The Twins moved up to 5½ back when their game with Washington was halted by rain after 10 innings with the score tied 8-8.

Elsewhere Dick Donovan posted victory No. 16 as Cleveland belted Detroit 7-3. Mike Hersberger's ninth inning homer gave the Chicago White Sox a 7-6 decision over Baltimore and Kansas City's Moe Drabowsky won his first in the AL with a 4-2 triumph over Boston.

The Senators and Twins played see-saw all night with Minnesota sending it into extra innings with two runs in the ninth. The Senators moved out front in the 10th when Joe Hicks singled and eventually scored on a fielder's choice. Rich Rollins' run-producing single in the bottom half knotted the count again. At this point rain halted play for the third time and the umpires decided to let them replay it tonight.

Hersberger decided the White Sox-Orioles struggle with a two-out homer in the ninth off Hoyt Wilhelm (5-9) that won it for Chicago and Frank Bauman 6-4.

The Orioles had pulled into a tie at 6-6 in the seventh inning on a walk to Whitey Herzog singles by Jim Gentile and Brooks Robinson and an error by Jim Landis.

Drabowsky (1-0) gave up a homer to Ed Bressoud in the fourth then was tagged for one by Gary Geiger in the eighth and John Wyatt had to come on to finish up a seven-hitter.

DEPENDABLE—There is nothing extraordinary about Bill Stafford's record, yet the New York Yankees are counting heavily on the right-hander in the run down the stretch.

Browns' Ernie Davis To Be Taken To Maryland Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ernie Davis, Cleveland Browns rookie who is suffering from a blood disorder that has sidelined him for the season, soon will be transferred to a Maryland hospital for further treatment.

This was announced late Wednesday by Arthur B. Modell, president of the National Football League club who said:

"After consultation with all the attending physicians it has been decided to transfer Davis to the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., for further therapy of his blood disorder."

He declined to elaborate other than to say the transfer would be made within a day or so.

Davis, All - America halfback from Syracuse and last year's Heisman Trophy winner, was stricken last month while practicing with the College All-Stars foot-

Only Conrad, Guerrier Have Jobs Sewed Up

Spirited Battle Shaping Up For 9 Of 11 Starting Spots at Leetonia

Since practice got under way Friday in the Leetonia High School football camp, competition has been keen at all positions except two—at quarterback where veteran Frank Guerrier has the inside edge and left halfback where talented Paul Conrad holds forth.

Conrad, a 155-pound senior halfback, gained over 700 yards as a junior last year and Coach Ike Farrah is counting heavily on him to have another good season. Conrad's top replacement figures to be a promising 185-pound sophomore—Phil Coseno.

THE 1962 SQUAD consists of seven seniors, 13 juniors and 15 sophomores who have moved up from last year's undefeated freshman team. There also will be 20 freshmen reporting Wednesday.

The eight returning lettermen are led by Tri-Captains Conrad, Guerrier and Dan Ferry, a tough 160-pound guard. Other lettermen back from last year's varsity which posted a 2-6-1 record are Al Vignon, halfback; Steve Vrabie, end; Don Masse and Roger McElroy, tackles; and John Race, fullback.

The end positions are being fought for by seniors Vrabie, Ray Burkholder from last year's reserve squad and the Bears' answer to John Havlicek—Henry Nemenz, a basketball star who has been outstanding in practice thus far.

OF THE NINE tackle candidates, a good battle for the starting positions is shaping up among juniors Masse and Rog McElroy; sophomores Bill Jones and Ken Hogue and junior Pat Morrissey, a newcomer who stands 5-11 and weighs 195 pounds. Morrissey also is being tested at center.

Capt. Ferry has the inside track on one of the guard spots, while sophomore Marty Orr and junior Dennis Holt compete for the other opening.

Sophomore Barry Marks, although only 135 pounds, has been battling junior John Wilms and Morrissey for the center spot.

Coach Farrah rates junior John Rance and sophomore Melvin Van Fossan about even at this time at fullback.

AL VIGNON and last year's reserve quarterback John Penick are battling for the right halfback position.

Coach Farrah has four tackle candidates on the squad weighing more than 200 pounds. They are juniors Jerry Hanna, 250, and Tom Troy, 235; and sophomores Jim Beck, 207 and Dave Guy 205.

The lightest man is Denny Holloway, a 116 - pound sophomore halfback.

Coach Farrah has scheduled two scrimmages at home before the regular season begins. Next Wednesday at 9 a.m. Youngstown Wilson will meet the Bears, and Aug. 31 at 8 p.m. the Portage Southeast gridders will be the practice foe.

ASSISTING with the coaching are Len Batcha, head basketball mentor, who has been working with linemen, and Paul Frank who is in charge of the backs. Other members of the coaching staff are: John Gunyula, 9th grade; Dave Pavlansky, 8th grade; and Tom Tatterson, 7th grade.

Student managers are Paul Russell, Chuck Gentile and Terry Gongaware.

Along with a 10-game varsity schedule, there will be a nine - game reserve slate; a seven-game freshman card; and six - game junior high schedule.

LEETONIA'S RESERVE and freshman teams each have games lined up against their counterparts from Salem this year. The reserves will entertain the Quakers at 10 a.m. Sept. 15 and the freshmen will play at Salem's Reilly Stadium after school on Oct. 2.

The Bears' varsity will open at home on Sept. 7 against Beaver Local, a team which boasts one of the heaviest squads in the district. The first Tri-County League encounter will be at home against Louisville on Sept. 21. The traditional battle with Columbiana, which figures to be a prime contender for the loop title this year, is scheduled for Oct. 12 at Columbiana.

Dodgers, Giants Humbled; Reds Close Gap on Leaders

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Picking the Phillies to beat the Dodgers and the Mets to beat the Giants on the same evening is something like drawing to an inside straight.

Usually the house gets rich on such odds. Wednesday night however it was the Cincinnati Reds who picked up the chips.

The Reds making a determined stab at repeating as National League champs used Eddie Kaso's 10th inning grand slam homer to beat the Chicago Cubs 9-5 while the leading Los Angeles Dodgers and second-place San Francisco Giants took their lumps from a couple of also-rans.

The stumbling Dodgers lost to Philadelphia 5-1 as Chris Short pitched a three-hitter while San Francisco had New York on the ropes then let the Mets get away 5-4.

The Reds trail Los Angeles by four games—the closest Cincinnati has been since the second week of the season—and are a half game behind San Francisco. Los Angeles retains a 3½ game margin over San Francisco.

Pittsburgh got three-hit pitching from Tom Sturdivant blanking Houston 3-0 and Milwaukee rallied to beat St. Louis 6-4 in the others.

The Reds regaining the form that brought them the pennant last season got support from an unexpected source in the victory over the Cubs.

Kasko who faces possible loss of his starting assignment with the return of Gene Freese from the injured list had hit only one home run this season before he unloaded with three men on base in the 10th. It was his 15th homer in six major league seasons.

Short, a lefty was damaged only by Frank Howard's home run in pitching the Phils past the Dodgers. A walk to Bob Oldis a sacrifice and Tony Taylor's line single broke a 1-1 tie for the Phils in the seventh and home runs by Johnny Callison and Don Demeter put it out of reach in the eighth. Short walked two in winning his eighth in 15 decisions.

San Francisco rallied from a three-run deficit to tie the Mets 4-4 in the top of the eighth only to lose it in the bottom of the inning. Ken MacKenzie reached base on an error leading off the Met eighth and Don Larsen was relieved by Bob Garibaldi after walking Richie Ashburn. A single by Charlie Neal drove in the tie-breaker.

Knuckleball specialist Sturdivant (6-3) had a no-hitter for 4 1-3 innings as Pittsburgh eliminated Houston from the race. The only Colt hits were singles by Hal Smith and Al Spangler and a double by Bob Lillis.

French Fried Potatoes Complete Barbecue

Have you noticed the ever-increasing enthusiasm for barbecuing and outdoor cooking among the men? On a recent plane trip, we were seated behind two business men who were in earnest conversation. They were exchanging recipes and favorite menus for barbecues. We will admit to a bit of eavesdropping, and heard them say that, in their thinking, no barbecue was complete without French fried potatoes.

Harlequin French fries, served hot and flavorful are a gala accompaniment to any barbecue menu, and guaranteed to add sizzle to any outdoor feast.

1-3 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup sliced green onion, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 1/4 cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, Dash pepper, 3 cups milk, 1 cup shredded pasteurized, process American cheese, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 1 package (1 pound) or 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen French fries, Paprika, optional.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in sauce pan; add green onion and green pepper;

cook slowly stirring constantly until onions are tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk; cook stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add cheese and pimientos, stir until cheese melts. Heat remaining butter or margarine in frying pan; add French fries and brown lightly over low heat, turning frequently. Pour sauce over potatoes. Sprinkle with paprika and serve. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Picnic Hams Delicious Budget Food

Smoked pork shoulder, called smoked picnic, is tender, delicious and relatively inexpensive. Smoked picnics are usually sold wrapped in plastic. Remember, they can be served either hot or cold.

ROAST SMOKED PICNIC WITH CHEESE TWIST

One 4 to 5-pound smoked picnic GLAZE:

1 tablespoon mustard, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Place picnic roast fat side up on a rack in roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into center of thickest muscle. Roast uncovered at 325 degrees F. to internal temperature of 170 degrees F. or about 45 minutes per pound. Pour off drippings. Remove all skin. Score picnic and cover with glaze. Then bake at 400 degrees F. 15 to 20 minutes to form a brown coating. Picnics will carve more easily if allowed to rest 15 minutes before serving.

VARIATIONS:

1. For a change, have your butcher bone a smoked picnic, then fill cavity with your favorite stuffing. Bake as usual, and watch for compliments.

2. Roast onions with picnic. Serve with a bowl of creamy horseradish sauce (3 tablespoons horseradish to each cup of sour cream).

3. Give roasted smoked picnic a slightly tart cranberry glaze and serve with baked apples filled with whole cranberries.

4. Boiled smoked picnics are excellent. Cover with water, simmer about 45 minutes per pound. Add 2 bay leaves, a clove of garlic and some peppercorns to water.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

You may find it easier to shred dried beef by tearing it with your fingers than by cutting it with a knife.

A little grated orange rind does wonders for canned whole cranberry sauce.

Serpent's Delight by Ruth Park. Australia is the background for this well-constructed novel about a middle-class family and what happens to its members when the youngest daughter claims to have visions of the Blessed Virgin.

The Passang Run by Elleston Trevor. The adventures of Hugh Copland when he is sent to manage the Passang Airport in Malaya. The adventures vary from a cobra in his bed to a bomb on an airplane.

A Shot In The Dark by Harry Kurnitz. A new play by the author of "Once More With Feeling" and "Reclining Figure." "A Shot in the Dark" was adapted from a Paris hit titled "L'Idiot."

at the

Country Store

Well we had a lot of fun out here at the Country Store last week. Our customers enjoyed the carnival atmosphere with the free pop corn and the beautiful music. They all enjoyed the low prices. Don't know if we made any money but that's our worry. If you think the Country Store is worth having around, remember it's your contributions at the cash register that make it all possible. If you have a neighbor or friend who would make us a good customer bring them along.

'Seeing Eye' House Sweeper May Not Be Too Far Away

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The day or submarines from whales—was demonstrated Wednesday at the Western Electronics Show. Called an optical decision filter, the device was developed to detect devices and boulders for unmanned moon jeeps. Builder Sam S. Viglione of

Douglas Aircraft's Astropower Electronics Laboratory said the same principles could be used in making instruments to:

1. Recognize fingerprints, signatures or even human faces and then unlock doors and bank vaults.
2. Pinpoint storm centers as they develop beneath orbiting satellites.
3. Guide spaceships through a starfield while the pilots sleep.

The prototype device, which has been miniaturized from a roomful of instruments, fits in a suitcase. Viglione said further research could reduce the size to a three-pound object nine inches long. It is basically a tiny computer which has been taught to identify 200,000 three-dimensional shapes. It has 400 photo cells in the retina of its "eye" and 400 logic units in its "brain." The device is sensitive to visible light rays, which enables it to guide vacuum cleaners around furniture and moon jeeps around obstacles. It could be made sensitive, Viglione says, to other kinds of signals, such as sonar for submarine detection, or the type of electromagnetic radiation given off by superheated missile warheads as they re-enter the atmosphere. The key to its usefulness is the ability to distinguish between an almost unlimited number of signal patterns, and do it faster than a man can think.

HALL OF ARMS — Armor room of Culzean Castle near Ayr, Scotland, features impressive display of arms and other military paraphernalia, most of it from the Napoleonic era. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower holds life tenancy in building's top floor.

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—A contract covering 740 employees of Union Carbide Metals Co. here expires Monday night, and negotiators are having trouble agreeing on a new pact. Local 3-369, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, turned down Wednesday the firm's latest offer. It would have provided a 9½-cent hourly wage increase.
